As the highest level of national education, postgraduate education bears the dual missions of high-end talent supply and the revolution in science and technology. It is the main driving force of social and economic development and the important cornerstone for implementing the innovation and development strategy and building an innovation-driven country. Now, Socialism with Chinese characteristics is developing rapidly, has went into a new era. It is about to start a new journey for building a great socialist country, on the basis of securing a special victory in completing the building of a moderately well-off society in all respects and combating Poverty crucial. It is very significance to strengthen the research on postgraduate students education of Xi's Thought and continuously improve the educational results.

1. Question Raising

As the latest theoretical achievements of marxism, Xi's Thought is a new ideas, new ideas new strategy, reflects the logic theory, practical logic, historical logic integration, with a new ideological content enriched and developed Marxism [1]. China has always attached great importance to the development of education. China has given strategic priority to the development of education, and put forward the requirements of developing higher education in the comprehensive construction and building China into a powerful country. Guided by Xi's Thought, graduate education has embarked on a new journey to comprehensively deepen reform and become a powerful nation in graduate education: Talents and science and technology are indispensable to realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Over past 70 years, postgraduate education has always adhered to the development of the country and resonated with the development of the country, scientific and technological competition and the core elements for building innovative country. In the new environment, China must strengthen postgraduate students Xi's Thought, for providing more solid talent support for building a strong socialist country.

2. Significance, Current Situation and Countermeasures

2.1 Xi's Thought is the Guiding Ideology

Xi's Thought was established as a guiding ideology. This is a historic decision and a historic contribution, which reflects the party's confidence and maturity in political theory [2]. Contemporary China is undergoing the most profound and extensive social transformation in the history. China is also undertaking the most ambitious and unique practical innovation in the history of mankind. Chinese characteristics Socialism has entered a comprehensive and new era. AS the leadership Chinese revolution, construction and reform practice for a long time, always adhere to basic principle of Chinese practice of marxism and Times characteristic, the combination in progressive era of marxism popularization, constantly open up new development of marxism. Xi Jinping, the new era of the ideas of Chinese characteristics socialism, persist in marxist stand point method, persist in the basic principles of scientific socialism, summarize the experience of science, the world socialist movement according to the development and changes of times and practice, with a new ideological content enriched and developed marxism, formed a system scientific theory system [3]. Xi's Thought is full of firm belief in Marxism, socialism and communism, demonstrates the political character, value pursuit and spiritual demeanor of contemporary Chinese Communists. China must uphold Xi's Thought as the important guiding principle.

2.2 Rapid Development of Postgraduate Education and the Characteristics of Postgraduate Students

As an important manifestation of a country's development potential and capacity, postgraduate education undertakes the important mission of cultivating high-level talents and promoting scientific research and innovation. More than 70 years of rapid development, China's postgraduate education become a powerful intelligence engine of "China Speed". Through continuous development and Reform in China's postgraduate education cause, build top creative talents highland, increasingly becoming the core engine drive technology innovation and development, China's land comprehensive service and social development, enhance the support for the rapid social and economic development and the leading ability, Chinese characteristics postgraduate education system was established, build a Chinese postgraduate student education standing in a new historical beginning point, has achieved new breakthroughs [4]. China sets out the requirements for developing higher education in a meaningful way and making China a more competitive country. Guided by Xi's Thought, postgraduate education has embarked on a new journey to comprehensively deepen reform and become a powerful country in postgraduate education. Postgraduate students has some characteristics. Firstly, the age span of college students is concentrated and small, while the age span of postgraduate students is large. The postgraduate students structure is complex, relatively independent, and has different connection with social activities. Secondly, The postgraduate students have their own opinions on the cognition of problems, have the consciousness of autonomy and competition, and pay more attention to the reality and future development planning. At last, postgraduate students are under pressure from study, family, emotion, employment and other aspects. They are burdened with heavy psychological and economic burdens, and often suffer from anxiety due to high family expectations, great academic pressure and unsatisfactory employment environment.

2.3 The Importance of Strengthening Postgraduate Students on Xi's Thought

2.3.1. Consolidate the Ideological Position of Contemporary Postgraduate Students

Ideological and political work of universities and colleges in the new era will undoubtedly become the main front of ideological construction. Colleges and universities have always been important places for all kinds of political forces to compete for young students and ideologies, and postgraduate students at this stage are also the key period for the shaping of world outlook and life outlook and values outlook [5]. Young students are an important force to safeguard the national ideological security, and their political quality also affects the country's future political direction to some extent. Therefore, under the extremely complicated situation of the current ideological struggle, it is particularly important to make them firm their lofty ideals and beliefs, master scientific theoretical knowledge and set up correct life goals through a scientific theoretical thought. Vigorously promote and identify and practice socialist harmonious values, adhere to encourage positive publicity and create a better cyberspace, strengthen cultural confidence measures such as the implementation at the same time, also for the contemporary graduate student a can rely on and practice the ideology of "YaCangShi", and provides a clear political orientation and strong guidance, deepened to the ideas of socialism with Chinese characteristics identification.

2.3.2. Set Lofty Ideals

The ideals and beliefs of postgraduate students decide the future development of the country. Graduate students have lofty ideals and firm convictions, which are an important driving force for social progress. If postgraduate students had high ideals, they can inspire their making rapid progress, and their youth cannot like a directionless ship adrift. Graduate students may have different life goals and career choices, but only integrating our own development into the development of our country and the people, following the pace of The Times and the trend of the people's development. Through continuous efforts to achieve the value of their own life development. If breaking away from the state and people's needs, any narcissism will enter a more narrow world. For contemporary postgraduate students, love of the motherland is the foundation for a successful career [6]. China has developed so far, patriotism means to love the Party, the people and the motherland. Guided by Xi's Thought, contemporary postgraduate students should have faith in Marxism, Chinese characteristics socialism and the great development and continuous renewal of the China.

2.3.3. Carry Forward the Spirit of Scientific Innovation

Postgraduate students are golden age to hone their skills and develop their abilities. In today's era, knowledge renewal is accelerating, the division of labor in society is becoming more and more narrow and new technologies and new models and new forms are constantly emerging. Graduate students have a broad space to display their talents and participate in various competitions. At the same time, these all put forward a lot of requirements for the level, ability and quality of graduate students. Contemporary graduate students should not only cherish their time and youth, but also strive to master all kinds of knowledge, constantly improve their quality, exercise their abilities in all aspects, and constantly update their thinking and knowledge level through efforts. Contemporary postgraduate students need Xi's Thought, graduate students need to constantly strengthen the sense of urgency, through the Marxist way, in-depth study of science and technology and cultural knowledge, improve the humanities cultivated manners, growth in learning knowledge, temper character, growth ability and practice ability in the work, innovation and make contribution to the country.

2.3.4 Promote All-round Development

In order to build a better socialist country, we must be strong not only materially but also spiritually. Our spirit needs to be more enduring and profound. The graduate students must combine the correct cognition and moral cultivation with the practice of moral, so as to continuously improve their moral level and lay a good foundation. In the face of complex changes in the world, graduate students need to be aware of the reality, cannot be misled, and need to insist on the correct arrival. In the face of the new and beautiful era, we cannot forget the Party and the people. Contemporary postgraduate students should consciously establish and graduate students need to constantly practice the socialist concept of harmony, constantly acquire good experience from the excellent traditional virtues of the Chinese nation, comprehend moral customs from examples, constantly reflect on themselves, and improve their own moral cultivation.

2.3.5. Cultivate the Responsibility of The Times

Struggle is the most beautiful background color of youth. The mission of national rejuvenation must be realized by struggle, and the sail of life's ideal must be raised by struggle. For five thousand years, the China has gone through many hardships, but none of them could bring China down. In the end, they have all boosted the spirit, will and strength of the China [7]. Contemporary postgraduate students should be brave to go ahead of The Times, pioneers, devotees, no fear in the face of all difficulties and obstacles, in the breaking waves to blaze new trails, in overcoming difficulties to open up new achievements, with youth and sweat to create a miracle of its own development. The Times calls for responsibility, and the rejuvenation of the nation is the responsibility of graduate students. On this new journey to achieve rapid development of the Chinese nation, we must overcome major challenges and risks and constantly overcome obstacles in the course of development. It is imperative for us to rise to the challenge and shoulder our responsibilities. Contemporary postgraduate students to cherish the time take era mission, in the play experience and grow in a responsible.

2.4 Countermeasures to Strengthen Postgraduate Xi's Thought Education

2.4.1. Pay More Attention to Graduate Student Xi's Thought Education

Colleges and universities should pay more attention to postgraduate xi Jinping's socialist ideological education while attaching great importance to postgraduate scientific research. In particular, teachers majoring in ideological and political theory should further realize that it is very important to learn thoughts and play its role constantly.

2.4.2. Strengthen Theoretical Study

Theory is the forerunner of actions. Only by studying the basic content of Xi's Thought deeply and understanding its connotation and theme can we further recognize and admire his thought and then apply theory to guide practice. The key to theoretical learning is to think independently, to combine learning with application, to learn, to gain, and to comprehend the true meaning. Colleges and universities are the main channel and front for the dissemination of theoretical knowledge [8]. Colleges and universities can carry out knowledge contests and special lectures on Xi's Thought to increase interest in the theoretical aspects of graduate study in this field.

2.4.3. Strengthen the Construction of Teachers' Working Team

To strengthen the education of Xi's Thought, individual research is one aspect, and the main body of teachers is also an extremely critical part [9]. The image of teachers in the minds of students has a vital impact on the quality of teaching. Words convey information reflects the acceptance of information, so the public teaching knowledge of certain words can directly reflect the degree of whether they really understand the gist to the subject of the teaching content, students can in the shortest possible time to understand the teaching content, increase communication in teaching and the actual effect, all of the intimate contact with the teacher's own professional.

2.4.4. Innovate Teaching Methods and Improve Educational Effects

At present, the technology of network information is constantly developing; traditional teaching methods of human beings have long been driven by technology and squeezed or occupied by the new discourse space with electronic information as the medium. It is difficult for students accept and believe in the more theoretical concepts by simple injection methods. Scientific good teaching methods and special teaching methods can improve students' learning effect improve students' acceptance of teaching content. Through the participation of multimedia, students will be able to improve the effect of Xi's Thought under the infection of multiple senses.

2.4.5. Integrate Xi's Thought into Practice

Practice is the sole criterion for testing truth. Many problems can only be understood by doing, much knowledge can only be unified by practice, many methods can only be produced in practice, and many innovations can only be obtained in practice [10]. Under the background of the new era, it is necessary to enhance the practical ability of talents to adapt to social development. To strengthen the practical activities of postgraduate students and integrate Xi's Thought into the practical activities is very helpful for improving the knowledge application ability of graduate students and understanding China's national conditions and people's conditions, which can better improve the educational effect of Graduate students' Xi's Thought.

3. The Conclusion

The heart has faith, can go far. Big plans have been made by China, building a great modern socialist country that is prosperous, strong, democratic, culturally advanced, harmonious, and beautiful and called for higher quality postgraduate education. With the rapid development of The Times, industrial transformation and technological revolution have been prominent, as well as acceleration domestic economic transformation and upgrading, it is imperative to strengthen postgraduate students on Xi Jinping's Thought education on socialism with Chinese Characteristics in a New Era, and make new and greater contributions to realize China's great development.
